Department of Mechanical Engineering

Incubation centre ZENI TEX

It sounds like ZeniTEX has expertise in fabrication, manufacturing, and refurbishing mechanical systems and they're collaborating with SSMCE, which possesses state-of-the-art laboratories, fabrication shops, and testing facilities. Together, they aim to foster innovation through research initiatives and incubate projects. The focus seems to be on supporting students in developing and commercializing projects and products related to solar engineering.

Through this collaboration, ZeniTEX will have access to SSMCE's fabrication and testing facilities. This access will enable ZeniTEX to conduct research, prototype, and fabricate innovative projects related to solar engineering. It appears to be a mutually beneficial partnership where ZeniTEX can leverage SSMCE's resources to further their research and development goals.
